Phil Madley Encaustic Wax Artist

art...

Welcome to the world of Phil Madley - a professional artist who paints in wax, which he has done for over twenty years. Phil uses heat inducing equipment to melt coloured waxes: irons, hot air guns, hot styluses, hot plates etc. Once complete the painting is polished and then sealed.

He sells paintings through exhibitions, commissions, online and at Open Studios/Art weeks. All his work is painted in wax, mainly onto special encaustic card, MDF or occasionally canvas.

Phil's background before becoming a professional artist was in graphics, working in advertising, sales promotion, design and eventually becoming a Creative Director in an Agency. So Art has been his life and long may it continue. We hope you find this leaflet useful...to learn more about encaustic wax, being taught, buying or commissioning a painting, or you might want a talk/demo for your club or society.

Please do not hesitate to contact us if you have any questions or queries, we look forward to hearing from you.

Phil Madley

...tuition and demonstrations

If you like what you see and you want to 'have a go' Phil runs two hour taster sessions for individuals or a maximum of two people from his studio in Wilstone, Hertfordshire. The promise is you will learn and have fun. We also supply day tuition classes - for more information on taster and tuition classes see:
